GEN. MACARTHUR MAPS OFFENSIVE TO REGAIN PHILIPPINES

Opening Shots Are Fired in Battle For Lower New Guinea

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

With the dramatic pledge "I came through and I will return," General Douglas MacArthur announced in Australia today that he had been instructed by President Roosevelt to prepare a great American counter-offensive against Japan for the primary purpose of relieving the Philippines.

General MacArthur, whose escape in a speedboat through the Japanese blockade of Bataan peninsula provided one of the most thrilling exploits of the war, gave no intimation when the Allied offensive would be launched.

In Washington, President Roosevelt declared that we are doing everything we possibly can in the phase of the Far Pacific struggle, but he called attention anew to what he termed a little, old lesson in geography—the vast distances of the war theatre and the long time it requires for reinforcements to reach there.

On the fighting front, dispatches from Port Moresby said the opening shots were fired in the battle for lower New Guinea island, where Japanese invasion columns are seeking bases from which to make a direct assault on Australia, 300 miles across the Timor Sea.

Reacting to the sting of Allied counter-blows—some of which may not have been mentioned for reasons of military secrecy—the Japanese navy bitterly accused the United States and Britain of waging "extreme warfare based on retaliation and hatred," and declared that Japan would reciprocate.

A Tokyo broadcast said that the Allies were employing tactics in disregard of international law and that consequently the Japanese navy was "revising" its warfare regulations. No details were given.

Few details were available regarding the developing conflict on New Guinea island.

Thus, in crisp terms, Gen. MacArthur served notice on Japan that the long weeks of Allied defensive fighting—the disheartening retreats in Malaya and the Dutch East Indies—may soon be ended.

High-ranking United States and Australian army officers conferred with Australia's Army Minister Francis Forde, paving the way for an Allied War Council which will assume basic control of all military operations.

Other cheering news came in a promise of Allied offensive action against Japan herself by Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell, U. S. A., who declared in Chungking:

"The United States means business, and we won't be satisfied until we see American and Chinese troops in Tokyo together."

Stillwell, recently appointed chief of staff to Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, Allied supreme commander in the China theatre, said he had been placed in command of all U. S. forces in China, India and Burma.

Previously, there had been no word of any United States troops in Burma except fliers of the American volunteer group.

British military quarters said Chinese troops were continuing to harass the Japanese advance in Burma toward Toungoo.

In the critical battle for the approaches to Australia, Australian "minute men" drafted from the civilian population were reported peppering Japanese invasion forces marching against southern New Guinea.

Veteran reinforcements for General Douglas MacArthur's southwest Pacific command—detachments of United States airmen from Java and British and Australians from Singapore—arrived in Melbourne by special train after debarking at various ports.

BURMA ASKING FOR POLITICAL CONCESSIONS

Country's Appetite for Self-Rule Whetted by Impending Visit of Sir Stafford Cripps to India to Discuss Autonomy

MAJOR FIGHT PLANNED

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

Mandalay, Burma, March 20—(AP)—Burma is broke, hungry and battered by invasion, but even today, as the British prepare to meet new Japanese thrusts into the hinterland of the country, Burmans are clamoring with growing insistence for independence.

Burma's appetite for self-rule has been whetted by the impending visit of Sir Stafford Cripps to India and Governor Sir Hugh Reginald Dorman-Smith is said unofficially to have asked London to send Cripps on here.

Since the Japanese invasion, the Burma autonomous movement had been pigeon-holed by mutual consent, but with indications that India is approaching dominion status, Burmese leaders have taken up the cry again and are understood to have made formal representations.

In the jungle no-man's land on the Irrawaddy and Toungoo fronts, meanwhile, the British evidently were drawing in their advance guards to make their stand on a battlefield of their own choice in

TOKYO CHARGES ENEMIES UNFAIR

Tokyo (From Japanese Broadcasts) March 20—(AP)—The Japanese navy charged today that the United States and Britain, since the start of the war in the Pacific, had waged "extreme warfare based on retaliation and hatred" and declared that Japan would reciprocate.

Alleging that Japan's foes were employing tactics in disregard of international law, the navy promulgated an ordinance "revising" its warfare regulations, which it said were based on the London declaration of 1909 and precedents of international law.

The precise nature of the revision as well as the specific charges against the United States and Britain were not given.

Navy Minister Admiral Shigetaro Shimada announced the decision to the cabinet while the government took action to notify Japan's foes through neutral powers of the decision.

CONTROL PLAN CHEERS FREE LANCE MINERS

Shamokin, March 20—(AP)—A 60-day extension of the anthracite production control plan under which legitimate operators purchase the output of free lance coal holes cheered independent diggers today.

"It is the sensible way to handle the problem now," declared Joseph Agor, newspaper editor and spokesman for a committee of Schuylkill-Northumberland bootleggers and truckers who urged continuance of the program. "I believe it will be satisfactory to all."

KHARKOV REPORTED IN FLAMES

Stockholm Dispatches Claim That Hitler's Ukraine Armies Are Making Hasty Preparations for Retreat From The Soviet Industrial "Pittsburgh"

IMPORTANT DEFENSE CENTER RECAPTURED

By the Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's Ukraine armies were reported in Stockholm dispatches today to be making hasty preparations for a retreat from Kharkov, the Soviet "Pittsburgh," with the city in flames as Nazi demolition squads blasted military stores and oil supplies.

Against this picture of a major new reserve for German arms, Hitler's field headquarters asserted that Russian troops driving into the Donets Basin east of Kharkov had been "thrown back after a new attack and suffered heavy casualties."

Soviet dispatches yesterday said the Germans had slain 30,000 civilians in Kharkov, but there was no direct word from Moscow on the progress of military operations against the big steel center of 833,000 population, which the Germans captured last Oct. 24. Unofficial reports on Wednesday said Red army shock troops were fighting in Kharkov's suburbs.

In the north, Soviet front-line dispatches said the Russians had recaptured important defense center from survivors of the trapped German 16th Army in the Staraya Russa sector, 120 miles south of Leningrad.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said captured documents showed the beleaguered Nazis were exhausted and suffering from lack of food, with the daily ration in some cases reduced to lentil pottage.

Kharkov was identified as the new headquarters of Field Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock, who was transferred from the central to the southern front by Adolf Hitler two months ago.

Turkish-German relations were evidently in for discussion at Adolf Hitler's war headquarters. German Ambassador Franz Von Papen left Ankara last night to report to his chief. London circles have suggested Hitler was seeking permission to send troops across Turkey, a move that might be aimed either at Suez or the Caucasus.

STILLWELL IN COMMAND OF FORCES IN BURMA

London, March 20—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Chungking reported today that United States Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell has announced he commands all United States forces in China, India and Burma.

Gen. Stilwell, sent to Chungking on a special mission by President Roosevelt, recently was appointed chief of staff under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, commander of all United Nations forces in the Chinese theater.

The war department in Washington announced yesterday that Stilwell had been put in command of the Fifth and Sixth Chinese armies in Burma, and he has recently been reported on the Burma front.

SEEK TO SPEED ASSEMBLY LINES

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Congress studied two new ideas today for boosting the arms output—a system of distinguished service awards for exceptional performance in war production, plus "incentive pay" for workers setting a fast pace in key munitions industries.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, endorsed both suggestions yesterday as he told a senate appropriations sub-committee that no special wartime labor legislation was needed, in fact, such "ill-advised" action might actually delay production.

Advancing his proposal for the assembly line croix-de-guerre, Nelson said:

"I feel that x x x just as there is (an award) for heroism in the field, it would be a fine thing on the part of congress to have an award to plants and to workers in the plants who did an outstanding job."

WAR BULLETINS

Ankara, Turkey, March 20—(AP)—German Ambassador Franz von Papen, apparently in poor health, was en route to Adolf Hitler's headquarters on the eastern front today to report to his chief.

London, March 20—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Social Demokraten reported today that Huesrev Gerede, Turkish ambassador to Berlin, would return to Ankara soon in connection with German proposals for Turkey to enter the war.

Canberra, Australia, March 20—(AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin, referring to a Washington communique announcing that 23 Japanese ships had been sunk or damaged in waters north of Australia, said the figures represented a series of actions during the past 10 days and not a single encounter.

San Francisco, March 20—(AP)—Contrary to rumors, there was no sabotage in Honolulu on December 7 when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, and there has been none since, Chief of Police W. A. Gabrielson of Honolulu declared in a cablegram to congress.

Tokyo (From Japanese Broadcasts) March 20—(AP)—The Japanese are preparing a simplified form of their highly complicated language in an effort to advance their "greater East Asia program."

An Army Pilot Met Death Here

Second Lieutenant A. K. Kennedy, Army pilot from Oklahoma City, was killed when his wrecked plane, shown here, crashed near Lima, O., in a snowstorm. Three other Army flyers, all en route from Detroit to Dayton, O., were killed in similar crashes nearby.

All Possible Being Done in Pacific Roosevelt Declares

Executive in Interview, Calls Attention to What He Terms a Little, Old Lesson in Geography

SHIPPING DIFFICULTIES

Washington, March 20—(AP)—President Roosevelt reiterated today that we are doing everything we possibly can in the phase of the war in the southwest Pacific, but he called attention anew to what he termed a little, old lesson in geography.

That lesson teaches, he observed, that to get anything to the southwest Pacific area takes an awful long time. Furthermore, he said, there is a world shortage of shipping.

He repeated previous declarations that all possible was being done when reporters asked whether he could elaborate, without going beyond the limits of military secrecy and strategy, on stories from Australia that General Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of United Nations forces, was considering plans for an eventual offensive and for relief of American and Filipino forces in the Philippines.

Incidentally, Mr. Roosevelt declared with an amused twinkle in his eye that he had told a charming lady who had supper at the White House recently that MacArthur had left the Philippines by rowboat, disguised as a Filipino fisherman, passed directly by a lot of Japanese submarines and warships, and rowed 2,500 miles to Australia.

Lockard Wedded to Schoolday Sweetheart

The marriage took place in the Evangelical Reformed church at Winchester, Va., on March 10, the day before Lockard received the Distinguished Service Medal for his unheeded warning of Japanese planes approaching the Hawaiian naval base.

Joe and his girl friend met in the public schools and continued the romance by correspondence after Lockard was assigned to Hawaii.

NEW CHAPTERS BEING WRITTEN IN SAGA OF SEA

Many Reports of Valor by Crews of Two Vessels Sunk by Submarines in Atlantic Related by Survivors at Miami

OPERATOR IS PRAISED

Miami, Fla., March 20—(AP)—Fearless men on United Nations merchant ships, writing a new saga of the sea by their defiance of Axis attackers, have added another chapter here with reports of valor by crews of two vessels sunk by submarines in the Atlantic.

Thirty-eight crewmen were saved from a medium sized American freighter on which nine others were lost. Landing here from Cuba, some of them told yesterday of bravery by men clinging to wreckage through 11 hours of darkness, and of two officers who lost their lives while attemting to make sure others were safe.

Thirty-four men who escaped from a torpedoed Norwegian tanker passed through Miami after landing at Nassau. They told of their captain and a boarding party returning to their ship three times after it was hit, and of flashing a distress call that resulted in two submarines popping to the surface and shelling the craft. All the boarding party were injured by shell splinters. Two men died and two others are in a Miami hospital.

The radio operator of the freighter Stanley Oliver of San Francisco, stuck to his post through the torpedoing of his vessel and a subsequent shelling, and flashed a distress call.

Julian F. Vinson, second assistant engineer, of Cranford, N. J., said the chief engineer, Paul

KANE TO BE MANAGER OF SMITH'S CAMPAIGN

Pittsburgh, March 20—(AP)—Judge Ralph H. Smith, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, announced today the selection of Allegheny County Commissioner John J. Kane as his state campaign manager.

The appointment, Judge Smith said, "guarantees a sound campaign policy."

DAIRYMEN VOTE ON MARKETING PROGRAM

Philadelphia, March 20—(AP)—Dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware went to the polls today to vote on the establishment of a federal milk marketing program for the Philadelphia marketing area.

New York, March 20—(AP)—Most of the milk producers in the six-state New York milk shed have elected to vote in units in the referendum to amend the federal order regulating the farm price of milk in the area, it was reported today by N. J. Cladakis, federal referendum agent.

OFFICER HERO OF SEA TRAGEDY

Lewes, Del., March 20—(AP)—Zvonimir Jurisic, 22, apprentice officer of the Jugislav freighter Trepca, was credited today with saving 24 members of the crew when the ship was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine March 13 off the Atlantic coast.

Four of the 37 seamen aboard the 5,402-ton vessel were lost in the attack. The remaining 33 were rescued b ya Swedish ship after drifting for three days in two lifeboats, the Fourth Naval District announced.

Survivors said Jurisic freed a lifeboat which had become entangled in its own lowering gear. Then he leaped into the water, they said, and pulled to safety several shipmates who could not swim.

Captain Stanko Marochini said a submarine, "the largest I have ever seen, apparently German," fired two torpedoes into the Trepca at 10:30 a. m. (EWT) last Friday. His ship went under within half an hour, he said.

Large Crowd Bids Farewell To 25 Inductees Departing For an Unannouced Center

Because of Secrecy Surrounding Leaving Time Group Is Limited to Families and Close Friends of Selective Service Men

ON EASTBOUND TRAIN

A large crowd was on hand this morning to bid farewell to 25 young men of Warren and vicinity who comprised the county's second wartime Selective Service contingent. The men left on the eastbound passenger train over the Pennsylvania Railroad this morning for an unannounced induction center.

Because of the fact that the leaving time was not publicly announced, the crowd was limited to families and close friends of those going into the service. However, the number on hand still was one of the largest to witness the departure of any group.

All of the prospective soldiers were in good spirits as they said farewell to their families and friends, most of them appearing anxious to do their part in the present crisis.

Originally scheduled to include 23 men, the group was increased by two last week when two who had been previously deferred were added to the list.

From Board No. 1—Hyman J. Levinson, Richard T. Grace, Robert A. Schindler, Claire A. Neal, Robert A. Hofer, Glen J. Patchen, Claud F. Schindler, Robert W. Hesch, Charles W. Brooks, Car W. Aikins, Edward A. Ryberg, Harold E. Sedon, Daniel J. Lucia, Joseph J. Sullivan and Lynn G. Beach, all of Warren; Martin A. Brant, Jacob B. Eschenbach and Raymond G. Tuttle, of Kinzua; Myron O. Bullock, Stephen F. Dickerson, of Clarendon; Donald W. Orcutt, Erie; Jacob W. Matheny, Westline; Charles Eugene Shreve, Olean, N. Y.; Albert A. Browne, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Lowell W. Osborne, Bradford.

FOURTH REGISTRATION

Washington, March 20—(AP)—The government yesterday ordered the oldest group of men under the Selective Service law—45 to 64, inclusive—to register on April 27 for possible non-combatant service in the future. The new registration date proclaimed by President Roosevelt will leave only one group not yet recorded, those of 18 and 19 years.

CENTRAL AMERICA DISTURBED

Intensive Propaganda Campaign Being Waged by Germans in Guatemala is Causing Concern to Persons Interested in the United Nations' War Efforts

RAEDER'S DAUGHTER ONE OF RING LEADERS

By CHANDLER DIEHL

Guatemala City, March 20.—(AP)—An intensive propaganda campaign being waged by Germans in this Central American country—from which important United States air patrols now are operating in defense of the Panama canal—is causing concern to persons interested in the United Nations' war effort.

The Guatemalan government has sent 115 Germans, considered dangerous, to the United States for internment, but many more still remain.

Some quarters estimate there still are 5,000 Germans in Guatemala, and complete surveillance of this group is a large problem for this small country.

Reliable informants say that in this group is Anita Raeder de Diestel, daughter of Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander-in-chief of the German navy, who is serving as caretaker of the deserted German legation and apparently mingling freely with other Germans.

Guatemala's problem is made more difficult by the fact the Germans' extensive coffee plantation interests are deeply entwined with the nation's economic position.

Well-qualified American sources say the Germans are making capital of every situation for propaganda purposes.

COMPLAINTS OF WORK STOPPAGE REPORTED FEW

BY JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

Washington, March 20—(AP)—A random inquiry among Pennsylvania congressmen indicated today that complaints of defense work stoppages or demands for suspension of the wage-hour law have been relatively negligible.

Representative Samuel A. Weiss, Glassport, Pa., Democrat, taking cognizance of statements in the house that the public was demanding curbs on labor, said he asked industries in the Pittsburgh area to give him a report. He said a collection of telegraphed replies showed virtually all of them were working at capacity.

"What do those fellows want?" he asked, referring to some western and southern congressmen demanding drastic legislation. Weiss said he had received one letter which said "please stop strikes."

Representative J. William Ditter, Ambler Republican, said the tenor of his mail was: "Give politics a holiday and end work stoppages. Why doesn't the president do something?"

Senator James J. Davis, Republican, said his mail was heavy enough but relatively little of it dealt with labor legislation. The office of Senator Guffey, Democrat, reported similarly.

FUGITIVE 21 YEARS WINS INITIAL ROUND

Philadelphia, March 20—(AP)—With judge, prosecutor, public defender and courtroom spectators rallying to his support, 53-year-old Clarence Arters has won the first round of his fight against going back to the Iowa prison he fled 21 years ago.

"It would be a miscarriage of justice to send this man back to jail," declared Judge Byron A. Milner, ordering the tearful father of six children released in $500 bail pending a hearing April 17 on a writ of habeas corpus.

SCHOOL GIRL SPY IS SENT TO REFORMATORY

New York, March 20—(AP)—Lucy Boehmler, 19-year-old high school girl, who said she "found espionage lots of fun," was sentenced today to five years in federal women's reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard.

Judge Goddard also sentenced Carl Herman Schroetter, 48-year-old skipper of a Miami, Fla., fishing boat, to 10 years' imprisonment.

Both pleaded guilty to participation in the espionage ring headed by Kurt Frederick Ludwig, master Nazi spy, who was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment recently.

PITTSBURGH SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT DIES

Pittsburgh, March 20—(AP)—Dr. Ben G. Graham, 61, superintendent of the Pittsburgh public schools since 1930, died early today in his home.

He had worked yesterday in his office in the board of education building, but had complained in the evening of feeling ill.

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

SHIPPING PROBLEM DISCUSSED

Evidence That Accelerated War Production Schedule Is Taxing Nation's Domestic and Foreign Transportation Facilities Submitted to Members of Congress

"SLOW-DOWNS" AMONG WORKERS ADMITTED

Washington, March 20 (AP)—A cry for ships and more ships arose from members of congress today as they received evidence that the accelerated War Production program had started to tax the nation's domestic and foreign transportation facilities.

Concerned lest a shipping shortage handicap the arms effort in the next few months, Senator George (D-Ga) declared that congress must "take hold of the transportation problem and deal with it vigorously" to avoid a serious slowdown in the delivery of vital military supplies to battle areas all over the world.

Truman said maritime commission officials also would be asked to report on the progress of the current ship construction program, which contemplates the building of 786 merchant vessels aggregating 7,995,000 tons this year. This is part of a long-range program calling for the construction of 2,877 cargo ships of 30,834,421 tons.

Chairman Emory S. Land of the maritime commission, who previously had estimated that strikes had "cost us between seven and twelve ships last year," told a senate appropriations subcommittee this week there was still some "loafing" and "slow-downs" among ship workers.

Congressional preoccupation with the shipping problem was intensified by the tonnage toll Axis submarine raiders have been taking in American waters. Legislators pointed out that the shipyards not only must replace these losses, but also build up a great surplus of shipping for the day the United nations seize the initiative on a worldwide front.

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN GROWING HOTTER

Washington, March 20—(AP)—The battle for the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania grew hotter today with U. S. Senator James J. Davis charging Major General Edward Martin and his campaign manager, State Senator M. Harvey Davis, with issuing a "pretty mess of contradictions."

In a formal statement answering Martin's assertion that he is "not qualified to govern" Pennsylvania, Davis declared:

"With the nation in peril, depending on generals for protection, General Martin resigns from the army, x x x seeks to make me party to a foul-ditch political deal, is sharply rebuffed, and then announces his defeat to the newspapers by saying I am unfit to be governor, as shown by my 20 years in public life.

"Meanwhile, his campaign manager says I am so important as United States senator from Pennsylvania on the naval affairs committee that I must be released.

"Those fellows ought to get together before they issue public statements."

Davis said he had refused a proposal from Martin that he withdraw his condidacy in the interest

Weekly Parades to be Held For Boys Leaving Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, March 20—(AP)—City and Allegheny county officials said today they hoped there will be no more dreary leave-takings for young men marching off to training camps to serve in the nation's armed forces.

As a starter, parades will be held here each week for the largest contingent of boys answering the call to colors. For the first one next Tuesday the martial music of two bands will enliven their steps—reminiscent of the send-offs given their dads in the days of World War 1.

Escorts of police and regular army and navy men and the cheers of spectators will accompany the new soldiers, sailors and marines stepping proudly through the downtown section toward railroad stations. Officials suggested that business folk start to work a few minutes earlier so they can "give the boys a hand" as they march by.

The parades were arranged in response to President Roosevelt's request that the people back up the war effort with a more general and enthusiastic display of patriotism.

Col. J. H. Davidson, in charge of army recruiting here, said an "apparent atmosphere of lethargy" had existed.

Cost of the new truck, which was bought subject to the approval of Fire Chief Douglas G. Kropf, of the local department, is $425.

The new volunteer fire department at North Warren was formed Wednesday night by members of a group from that community who have been in training at the State Hospital as auxiliary firemen under the State Council of Defense. There are about thirty in the group.

At The Library Theatre Friday and Saturday

A host of funny and fascinating new characters is introduced in Walt Disney's newest feature-length production, "Dumbo," which opened yesterday and completely captivated its audiences. Leading the parade is the hero who gives his name to the title, Dumbo, the sail-eared little baby elephant.

Then there is a new comedy team which convulsed the audiences, the Five Black Crows, birds who speak with the rich and spontaneous humor of the Negroes, and whose "dawn dance" is one of the most comical things Disney has ever created. Timothy Mouse, Dumbo's side-kick and benefactor, is another ingratiating individual, as is Casey Junior, the brisk and alert little engine which pulls the circus train. And if you don't think a railroad engine can take on personality, you don't know your Disney.

TRAGEDY COMES HOME AGAIN

The grim tragedies of the war are coming home to more and more families in Warren county. The second local boy to lose his life in a plane crash in the Royal Canadian Air Force is Capt. Glenn K. Hyer, son of Dr. and Mrs. I. G. Hyer, of Clarendon. He met death Wednesday while training others to help do their part in ridding the world of barbarious dictators.

To have fallen under such gallant circumstances is fame forever. Probably it is the only comfort in this sad news—for this fine young man went out with high hopes and gallantry, ready to do his duty wherever orders took him.

Incidents of this war, tragic as they are at the moment, come closer home when we realize they are taking the lives of some of the finest of our young men. There will be more losses—poignant news from which many do not recover in a lifetime. For these developments we must find new courage, a new appreciation of life—and for those to whom such news comes, we must forever have unbounded sympathy.

These are truly times that try men's souls. Yet there will doubtless be even darker days before we find the high road to victory.

WE CAN GET ALONG WITHOUT THEM

Cease complaining, girdle-less ladies. Golfers, grumble not at the ban on golf balls. Moan not, motorists, that you cannot re-tire. A far greater blow has been struck at American civilization. Music may have the charm to soothe savage beasts, but not the dogs of war. Production of juke boxes will be stopped. The government says so. Juke box materials are needed for planes.

After the present supply runs out, no more beer hall Brahms and Bach, no filling station fugues. No more "Rose O'Day" and "Deep in the Heart of Texas" with your steak and onions. Once more platters will be something upon which food is served.

PEP UP THE SEND-OFFS!

A few musicians playing some peppy patriotic numbers would help to relieve the strain of cheerless and watery-eyed leave-takings such as was witnessed at the Pennsylvania railroad depot this morning. Down at Pittsburgh, city and Allegheny county officials have decided that future contingents answering the call to colors will be escorted to the station reminiscent of the send-offs given their dads in the days of the World War 1. Good idea for Warren to adopt. Godspeed, boys, and the best of luck!

Practically 100 per cent of the membership of the Warren Concert Association enjoyed one of the most magnificent treats in the organization's history last evening when the Metropolitan tenor, Frederick Jagel, presented a concert at the Woman's Club, which proved a delightful finale to a very successful season.

Miss Spring is scheduled to arrive at 2:11 a. m., (Eastern War Time) Saturday morning, but it isn't expected many will wait up to greet her.

You had to be up early this morning to [illegible] most glorious sunrise of the spring.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

"STREETS"

(Prepared by Gaius Glenn Atkins, the Commission of Evangelism and Devotional Life)

"And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing" Read Zachariah 8:1-8.

Streets run clear through the Bible They begin in Sodom full of death, they end in the New Jerusalem, shining and shaded by the Tree of Life. Nor were its writers strange to war-ravaged streets. The Old Testament's last prophetic hope is a city whose streets will be safe for happy children.

Streets are never merely "Main Street" or "First Street They are memory and history, adventure and romance, comradeship or loneliness and, in a strange way, the demonstration of our folly or our wisdoms. Bombed streets are stupid hatred's final triumph, dangerous streets are haste and selfishness driving blindly, streets safe for little children are the thoroughfares of friendship. There are now better playgrounds for children than the street, but the ancient vision is still a hope whose fulfillment is our Christian challenge and task.

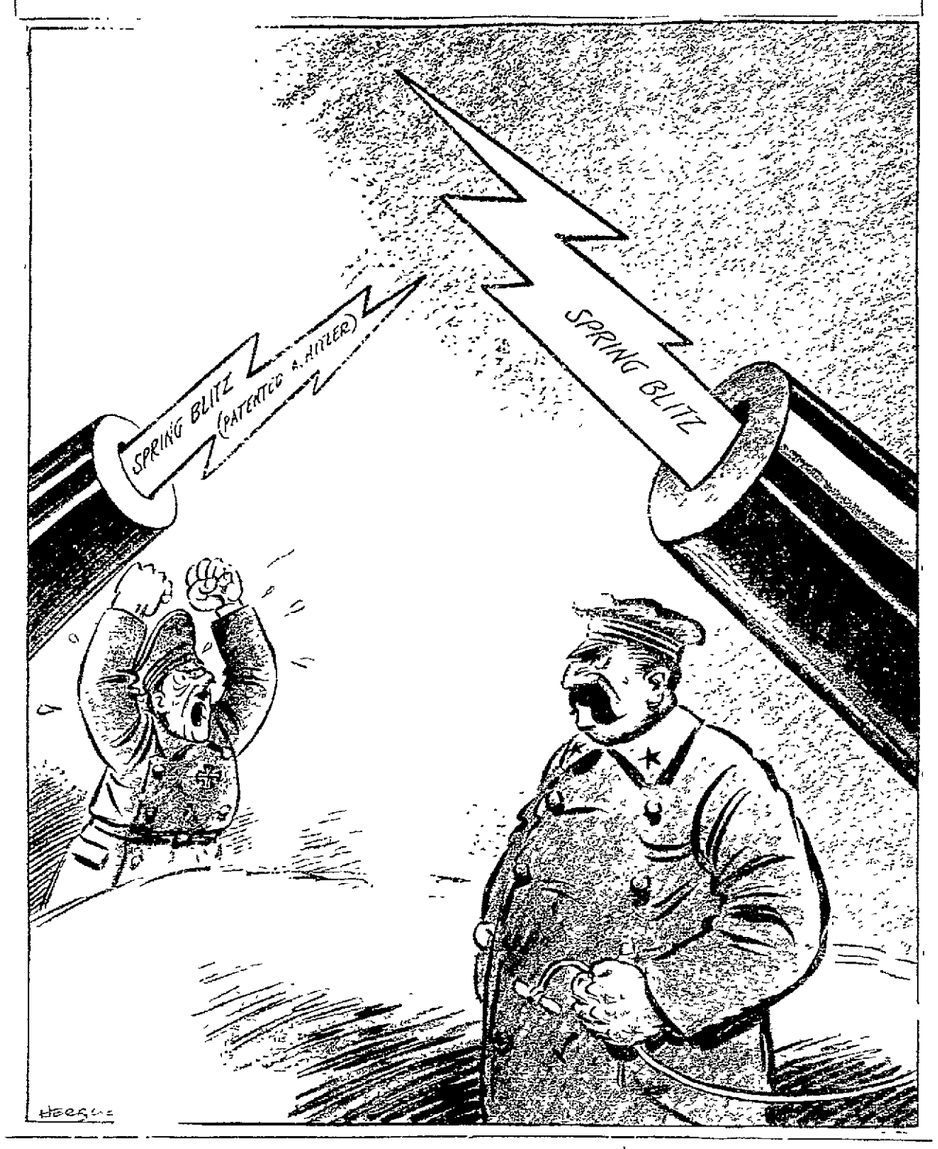

Prayer: Lord of fields and cities, bless we beseech Thee, the cities we live in. Help us to make them cities of peace and shared endeavor whose streets are safe and whose government is honorable. Strengthen amongst us the bonds of neighborly goodwill and defend our homes from inner and outer danger. In His name Who blessed the streets He used. Amen.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak—Mark 14:38.

Many a dangerous temptation comes to us in the gay colours, that are but skin-deep.—Matthew Henry.

"Thuunder-Stealer!"

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital In Wartime:

The day of the broomstick army is well over. The supply of rifles, I am told, has long since passed the requirements for equipping every man in our rapidly expanding army. It was, therefore, with some consternation that a good many other Washingtonians and I observed two smartly turned-out young privates marching along in front of the White House on Pennsylvania avenue the other afternoon with brooms at shoulder arms.

For a moment, it appeared that the Army was picketing its commander in chief. But near East Executive avenue, the two privates halted, grounded their brooms with perfect precision, and then broke their two-man rank.

It was simply a detail, whose order it was to sweep in and around the sentry boxes that jut out from the iron fence that surrounds the White House.

EMPLOYES of the Department of Interior who, a few months ago, were saying unkind things about Employer Harold L. Ickes are now practically unanimous in their vote of thanks.

During the threatened gasoline shortage in the eastern states, Ickes conducted a departmental campaign to force his employes to share their cars in going to and from work. In spite of complaints, the idea caught on. By late September, it was estimated that each Interior employe car was carrying an average of 1.6 passengers. Through the winter, car owners who drove to work daily, mapped out pick-up routes and made arrangements with other drivers to exchange rides.

Now, with tire and auto priorities beginning to pinch and a gasoline shortage threatened again, the Interior department workers are miles ahead on their share-the-car program and the average passenger figure has almost doubled

THE cub reporter who learned his news values in peace time would have a bit of heavy going in Washington these days. A four-alarm midtown fire that gutted a three-story furniture building and resulted in seven firemen being overcome and 25 others slightly injured turned up in one of the local papers on page 13, and was given no more prominent display in the opposition sheet.

LATEST scheme of the racketeers who prey on the war effort is that of men who go about representing themselves as federal "tire inspectors" and either lay the groundwork for "government requisition" of tires on private automobiles or "case the tires" for future thievery

Leon Henderson's OPA says that the only government tire inspectors at work now are those checking dealers' stocks and there will be ample information given in advance before any others take the field.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There were no strap-hangers, but every seat on the big commuters' bus was taken. We cut our way through the tortuous midtown traffic and headed toward the mouth of the Lincoln Tunnel. A little man across from me had his head buried in the New York Times Next to him was a man who had his head buried in the New York Times. You could have fired a sixshooter through the roof and I don't thing either would have noticed it.

Finally we plunged into the tunnel. The driver was going pretty fast. He gauged his speed by the speed of the truck just ahead of him, which was going just as fast as the law allows tunnel drivers to go

This truck was piled high with blue packages of a uniform size They were about the shape and size of a cracker box. There were about twice as many packages on the truck as it should have had.

• • •

SUDDENLY a rope snapped and a layer of blue packages sailed through the air. They banged against the sides of the tunnel. They banged against our bus. One of them knocked the hat off a cop who was patrolling his tunnel beat

Our bus at once slowed to a halt, and back of us you could hear screaming brakes as the line of traffic was forced to do likewise

But the truck ahead kept right on going. So did the packages, which by now were littered over a quarter mile of tunnel.

A cop leaped to the wall-railing and threw a switch. All lights turned red. You could hear the blasts of the police whistles Motorcycle cops from each entrance of the tunnel roared up. The cops on duty and the motorcycle cops leaped into the tunnel and began tossing the blue cases up on the ramp. Some of the packages had burst open, and what apeared to be little cans of evaporated milk were rolling under the automobiles.

• • •

THE cops did a good job. That's one thing you can say about the Tunnel Cops. They're New York's finest. They're never better than in an emergency. They are assigned to the tunnel by the Port Authority. I've seen them handle crack-ups and other emergency assignments and they're superb.

A cop grabbed a telephone and headed the run-away truck off at the other end of the tunnel

Then the go-ahead signal was given. Order was restored. There had been shrill blasts and pounding motorcycles, but no confusion.

The big commuters' bus slipped into gear and we began to push forward.

The man across the aisle who had his head buried in the New York Times suddenly jerked up his head.

"What happened?" he wanted to know.

The man next to him who had his head buried in the New York Times, jerked his head up He looked around.

GARDEN CLUB

The Brokenstraw Garden Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis. The nominating committee was appointed by the president, consisting of Mrs. Alice Streeter, Joe Davis and Mrs. Frank Martin. It was suggested that the members bring to the next meeting lists of flowers that they would like to exchange with other members. A trio was then given by Joe Davis, clarinet; Philip Baumgarden, cornet; and Mrs. Davis at the piano. The main talk of the evening was given by Mrs. V. D. Smith who spoke on vegetables and flowers grown in New Mexico. It was illustrated by pictures and specimens.

Refreshments were served by the host and hostess. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Franklin Highhouse.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The Legion and Auxiliary held a well attended birthday dinner in the Legion rooms on Tuesday evening. The cake which was gay with birthday candles was the creation of Mrs. Betty Patch. Group singing about the tables was enjoyed by all. The talk of the evening was given by Rev. C. M. McIntyre.

PARENT-TEACHERS

The Youngsville Parent-Teachers meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the high school auditorium. A song and devotion program preceded the business session. Nominating committee for the selection of officers was appointed by the president, Mrs. Jeannette Conklin.

The Dramatic Club of the high school presented the timely and patriotic playlet, "The Land of the Free," with the following cast: Miss Barbara Detar, Miss Dorothy Jack, Miss Barbara Engstrom, Miss Wilma Metzger, Miss Norma See, Miss Betty Newgreen and Miss Barbara Weldom. Miss Barbara Kay announced the play.

SCOUT LEADERS

All of Youngsville's Scout leaders were present at the home of Mrs. Paul Getts for the collection of old linen to be used by the Girl Scouts for the making of surgical dressings to be used for first aid in the town should the occasion arise. If not used in Youngsville, the dressings will be given to the American Red Cross.

The collection will not start until after Easter, but the Scout leaders suggest that suitable material be laid aside for the Girl Scouts when they solicit.

BRIEFS

Mrs. Flora Wilcox received a cablegram Sunday of this week from her son, Sergeant Clair Wilcox, saying, "Arrived safely in Australia. Everything O. K." It was the first direct message she had received from her son since January when he was in Honolulu.

McKenney On Bridge

PLAYER BLOCKS OWN SUIT DELIBERATELY; WINS EXTRA TRICK

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

I happened to be a kibitzer at a rubber bridge game when today's hand was dealt. The bidding of course was inaccurate, since it failed to uncover the fact that North-South held no diamond stopper. But a very pretty point arose in the play.

East won the opening lead with the king. He returned the jack, avoiding the usual return of the fourth highest card since to do so might block the suit. Then he led the nine, West overtook, and East was surprised to find himself back in the lead with the three of diamonds on the fourth trick. This was because West had carefully saved the deuce to force him in.

East made the obvious lead of a spade, and so West made a trick with the queen of spades, which otherwise would have been lost.

I said to West, "How did you have the foresight to save the deuce of diamonds?"

He replied: "When I saw dummy I knew that declarer could cash five clubs and some hearts as soon as he got in. We were sure to get five diamonds and the ace of spades, but the minute the jack of diamonds came down I planned to block our suit and force East to lead spades. So I played the eight on the jack, instead of the deuce."

"Well," I said, "I only wish that the late Milton C. Work could have been here. Back in 1925 or earlier in one of his auction bridge books he gave a hand just like this to show how a defender might gain by delibreately blocking a suit.

"In some points the resemblance to the hand you just played is startling. The crucial suit was diamonds, the leader held five headed by ace-queen, and ending with the deuce, his partner held four diamonds topped by the king, and the leader's tenace that he wanted led up to was the ace-queen of spades doubleton!"

Metropolitan Tenor Jagel Brings His Charmed Audience To Its Feet at Conclusion of Recital

Frederick Jagel, versatile Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, literally brought his audience to its feet last night at the Woman's Club, when he was presented as the final attraction on this season's Warren Concert Association schedule and climaxed his program by leading the assemblage in The Star Spangled Banner.

With the opening number, Handel's "Largo", sung in the true classical style with sonority and dignity, it was evident to the large audience that it had been given the opportunity of hearing a truly great artist.

Although endowed with a magnificent operatic voice, Mr. Jagel proved adequately that he could do full justice to a program that encompassed a variety of styles ranging from the classics to modern song literature.

It was a foregone conclusion that the singer's eminence as a valued member of the Metropolitan company would make his operatic numbers especially noteworthy and these, The Flower Song from Bizet's "Carmen" and Vesti la giubba from "Pagliacci", were sung with dramatic intensity. To these he added two others in a lyrical vein, the aria from "Martha" and the lovely Vainement ma bien aimee from Lolo's "Le Roy d'Ys".

Mr. Jagel proved his great artistry in the charmingly delicate Bellini song, Ninna Nanna, as well as in the lively round, Girotondo: and he seemed especially happy in the Sadero L'amor e una pietanza.

The closing group of songs by American composers offered Golde's very fine O Beauty, Passing Beauty and Ernest Charles' Clouds. His Irish song was given with great amusement and charm and to the final number he brought the pathos and heartbreak of a farewell. A breath-taking Annie Laurie and Ernest Charles' When I Have Sung My Songs were encores received with delight.

At the piano was Mischa Hoffman, Russian born and extremely talented, who provided an excellent background for the vocal attainments of Mr. Jagel. His familiarity with the singer's moods was particularly amazing when it was learned it was his second appearance on the concert stage with the Metropolitan star.

World War II Library Display

Our nation has suffered many severe shocks in the last few months since she has entered the second world war. With these shocks came attendent bewilderment, troubled awakenings, and not a few doubts of American invulnerability. A great many of our people feel that the truth has been withheld from them, that they must know the truth if they are to be free.

We must face facts. We must know the false ideologies and historical events that have led the world into chaos. We must know the strength of our armed forces and the vast proportions of its problems. We must keep home fires burning, forging new steel into the bastions of defense, and what is more important, forging new steel for those danger spots of American democracy. We must prepare for a peace that shall be more than an armistice, more than a temporary cessation of war. Peace must become a vital program of all nations to work toward the common goal of maximum opportunity for the growth of all human personality.

To help its patrons to explore these facts thoughtfully, the Warren Public Library has placed on display a variety of book and pamphlet material, all of the material will be for circulation. Frequent additions and changes to the collection will be made.

DRAGON GYMNASTS DEFEND STATE PIAA HONORS TOMORROW

Short Dress Rehearsal Today Polishes Team For Penn State Meet

With a brief dress rehearsal this afternoon the defending champion Warren High school gymnastics team wound up preparations for their final test of the 1942 schedule tomorrow, which will be their second defense of the PIAA crown, and what they don't know now may hurt them, but they certainly couldn't have learned it all this afternoon anyway.

The general consensus, however, is that the Dragon acrobats have enough qualities to do a commendable job at State College tomorrow, and rated favorites to return from market with the bacon again, are conceded an even chance by the experts of successfully executing their trick.

Besides looking for Bob Bean to set up a new rope climbing record, local followers are expecting considerable pointgetting by Bob on the horizontal bar and rings, and additional markers to be counted up by Bill Meade, Budd Matthews and Jackie Bean on the mats, while Dick Keller, though a little spotty, may be able to cop the side horse routine.

Major competition will be coming from the eastern part of the state tomorrow, especially on the mats, the west having only Indian club artists which have greatly bothered the Dragons.

Coach Homer Fleming has built up a smooth working machine for this program, regardless of the fact that he lost some valuable material last year by graduation.

The Dragons probably have the outstanding team in the state, but their main worry will be getting by several individual stars from other schools who will be collected, not to win team titles, but to clinch individual honors.

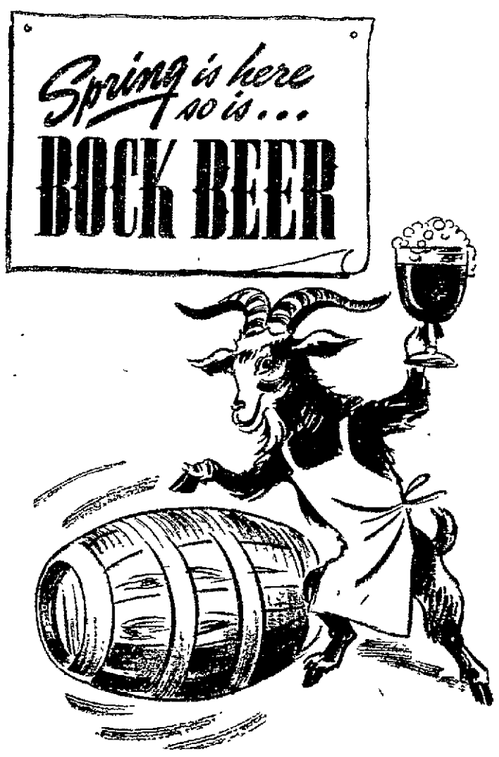

From here on it's up to the Flemingmen. They're expected to do an impressive piece of work.

BRADFORD OWLS AND ARNOLD GO THIS EVENING

By the Associated Press

Zero hour strikes tonight for the high school basketball teams of Pottsville, Berwick, Bradford and Arnold.

Two of the four will be eliminated, narrowing the field in the race for the coveted state PIAA court title to a mere six quintets - Pottsville, District 11 champs, and Berwick, District Two titleholders, clash at Hershey. Unbeaten Bradford, from District Nine, takes on Arnold, of District Seven, at the Pitt Stadium in Pittsburgh. The winners will go into the state semi-finals. The other two semi-finalists will be decided tomorrow night when Lower Merion meets Shamokin in Philadelphia and Sharon encounters Franklin Boro at Farrell.

Put off the cares of the day, give spring-fever the slip, as you sip our fine brew of Bock Beer. It has just the flavor—just the sparkle—just the mellowness you wait for all year! Now that it's here, order yours today from

PHILLY QUINTET MEETS OIL CITY ST, JOE'S TEAM

Williamsport, March 20—(AP)—LaSalle of Philadelphia is going to get an early chance to show whether it deserves a co-favorite's role in the state Catholic high school basketball tournament.

The Quaker City quint drew what appeared to be its hardest assignment in tonight's opening round, the defending St. Joseph five from Oil City. And it's a sudden-death affair to cut the field of eight to four for Saturdays finals.

LaSalle's record of 21 wins against two losses for the season is more impressive than Oil City's 17 triumphs to six setbacks, but observers still look for a stiff tussle.

Allentown Central, which also drew plenty of support along with St. Joseph of Williamsport, meets St. Mary's Central Catholic in its initial test while the Williamsport quint engages DuBois and Pittsburgh North Catholic tackles Easton.

Allentown and Pittsburgh boast the finest records of the tourney, the Vikings having copped 22 out of 23 and the Smoky City boys 18 out of 19.

RAY ROBINSON, RUBIO TANGLE IN GARDEN BOUT

New York, March 20—(AP)—Just by way of keeping his machinery from getting rusty while he's waiting for Red Cochrane to bring the welterweight title out of the navy, Ray Robinson takes on Norman Rubio tonight in a 12-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

And if Rubio's recent exhibitions of walk-in-and-wallop are any indication of what's on tap, the chances are the "Sugar Boy" from Harlem won't have much time to let the rust accumulate in this outing, in which he's putting up the longest unbeaten record of any fighter in the business today.

No matter how you add it up, the skinny swatter should run his string to 118 straight triumphs—89 as an amateur and 29 as a pro—in this tea party. He's 1 to 4 in the betting shoppes and this corner likes him to finish with the decision.

But Rubio's slugging style—take two punches to land one and never stop charging—figures to make it a pretty fair evening's entertainment for the 8,000 to 9,000 customers "Uncle Mike" Jacobs expects.

Kalbfus Club Tops Revolver Leaguers

The Kalbfus gunners cracked out 1005 last night to pace the four teams participating in the Warren Revolver League's weekly shoot, and without the Cornplanters competing for honors, the pace-setters last night filed claim to all the laurels.

Bert Werlin had high individual score of 264 and Dave Worley, on the same outfit, followed closely behind with a 260.

Other team scores were: Warren National Bank, 838; Post Office, 813; Warren Police, 794.

WHIRLY MOVES EASTWARD

Canada had 1186 motion picture theaters in 1939.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

WORRIED BOUDREAU NOW SMILES WITH CONTENTMENT; MAY ADD NEEDED ZEST TO TRIBE; GOOD LUCK TO GYMNASTS

Lou Boudreau, youngest major league manager the game of baseball has ever seen, aged considerably over the winter months, worrying himself sleepless as he tried to vision how the Cleveland Indians were going to receive him, how the veterans were going to react to his orders, and how his plans were going to go over in general. But a smile of contentment now has spread across his stormy face which was fairly lined with ripples in his forehead, drawn cheeks and depressed glances for the most part prior to spring training. Boudreau has regained the confidence he possessed as he won acclaim in the American League as a stellar infielder, and with the aid of valuable chats with veteran Coach Burt Shotton, seems ready to at least emulate past standards and possibly unfold the greatest evolution baseball has known in Cleveland. All the players are co-operating with Lou in such enthusiastic manner that his optimism is now brimming and even more evident than was his recent worrying. The players are hustling, and Lou has a simple plan in store, to play percentages and hold brief, frequent practice sessions. Yes, the Cleveland Indians under Boudreau may wield their tomahawks in earnest this year.

One of the milestones of the year's athletic program at Warren High school will be passed tomorrow, and hopes are high that it will linger as another successful defense of the state gymnastics title by Coach Homer Fleming's Dragon acrobats. If confidence, but not cockiness, can have any bearing on tomorrow's outcome, then the Warren boys should be in there 100%, and loom as good favorites to retain the laurels, because every member of the squad is filled with determination to top any and all competition and to do his best for the school and the team. Bob Bean is counted on sharply to clinch the rope climb event, and possibly even the rings or horizontal bar. The latter two events ought to result in his being placed near the top, if not in the select notch. Supporting roles to be played by Bud Stone, Bud Matthews, Jackie Bean, Dick Keller, William Meade, and the entire remaining portion of the team are expected to be effective enough to draw a bulging number of points for the locals. So, good luck, boys. Let's see that crown again!

New York, March 20—With spring football getting under way in the north (it's about over in the south), George Carens of the Boston Traveler asks why it wouldn't be a good idea to arrange a few games to aid the army and navy relief funds and give the boys an incentive to bear down.....He figures it wouldn't cost much to bring together teams like Harvard and Boston College or Fordham and Columbia and plenty of fans would pay to see them....To make sure the customers won't miss seeing a pole vault record at the Chicago relays tonight (if Cornelius Warderdam can go high enough) officials scheduled the event to start 45 minutes before the rest of the meet.....According to Mushky McGee, Harry Markson, Mike Jacobs' publicity chief, is "the best grammatician in the

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20—(AP)—This probably will come as a pleasant surprise to Augie Galan, himself, but Augie is due to start this coming baseball season as the regular left fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, supplanting Joe Medwick, who cost the club $125,000 only two years ago.

Medwick, in fact, will be with the National League champions on opening day only in the event that President Larry MacPhail is not successful in his present efforts to trade Joe and Holdout Pitcher Whit Wyatt either to the Cincinnati Reds or the Chicago Cubs. A deal of some sort might pop any day now.

It is a tremendous break for Galan to crash the regular line-up of the club popularly favored to repeat in the National. A year ago he was considered a hopeless baseball cripple, washed-up because of an injured knee. The Chicago Cubs, for whom he had played since 1934, returned him to the minors, and Brooklyn got him for next to nothing.

Galan's knee began to feel good under the hot Cuban sun in camp this season, and he began to run and field and hit. Medwick still was plate shy from the terrible "beaning" he received two seasons ago.

ALL-STAR FIELD TO COMPETE IN CHICAGO RELAYS

Chicago, March 20—(AP)—An all-star field, including the owners of 16 American track and field records, will compete tonight in the Chicago relays, one of the last events of the indoor season.

Six of the performers will be back to defend championships won last year, and possibly the greatest of this number is Greg Rice, who set a new world record for the two-mile a year ago and has been undefeated in more than two years.

In tonight's race, Rice will again will be matched with Gil Dodds, the former Ashland College runner now of the Boston A. A. Dodds has yet to defeat Rice. To prove he has no fear of the advance notices, Dodds gave Leslie Mac Mitchell, N. Y. U., miler his first loss in 20 starts, in the National A. A. U. championships.

Advance sales indicated a capacity crowd of 17,000 in the Chicago Stadium, which relays officials figured would be a record for indoor track crowds.

Warren Tank Breaks Elks Total; Juliano Cracks Out 267 Game

Getting hotter as the evening progressed, the Warren Tank bowlers in the Elks League last night cracked out a new team total record, 2742, in torpedoing the Times-Mirror, second-place claimants in the Loyal Knights loop, for four important points.

The publishers had lots to gain through a clean sweep, and more to lose as the result finally became evident, but there was just no stopping the Tankers as they wrapped up games of 898, 915 and 929 to present the newsmen with a tidy little bundle of dynamite.

Rusty Adolphson led the way with 607 while Eddie Lynch followed with a big 576.

Cochrans took four points from the Style Shop, Kirbergers nabbed the Fords for a three point victory, and the South Side Market led by Pete Juhano with a blasting 636, clinched three of four points in their match with the Pontiacs, in other Elks club action.

At the Arcade, the Commercial League was up to average, but not over it. Olson-Bjers trimmed the 3-G's with a four point triumph, the Busy Bee rolled only 2325 but took four from the A. & P. Super Market by forfeit, and Valone Cleaners and Bradford Penn both annexed three points over their respective opponents, Oscar's Restaurant and Times Square.

SHOW BOAT GIRL

By ROBERTA COURTLAND

Chapter 11

Success

TWO nights later the River Queen was ready for business. The day had been crowded with a thousand last minute details. Everybody was keyed up, tense. Everybody knew that Randy had sunk the last penny that he could rake, scrape or borrow into buying and equipping the River Queen, and that unless business was good from the very beginning, he would be literally sunk—and their jobs with him.

As dusk gathered above the river, the first cars began to arrive; by nine o'clock the parking space at the side of the road was filled and more cars were coming, their headlights cutting like sharp knives through the summer darkness. The tables were all taken. Melissa knew that a great many of the people who had come in those sleek, expensive cars were upstairs at the gambling tables. But there were enough downstairs at the beginning of the floor-show to pack the tables so that the waiters had to exert the most expert dexterity to make a way between them with laden trays.

There had been a good deal of friction over the order in which the acts of the floor-show were to make their appearance. No one wanted to open the show. But Melissa had said innocently, "If you think I'm good enough, Bob, I don't mind opening."

Bob looked at her with frank gratitude.

"O.K., kid—you'll knock 'em cold," he answered. "You and Alice follow Melissa, Hugh, and Dolores, you'll take the final spot."

"Naturally," said Dolores curtly. "Where else would a star be spotted in an outfit like this?"

And so, shortly before ten o'clock, the curtains of the stage swung apart and a girl stood there. Behind her was a painted drop representing a garden crowded with rather incredible-looking flowers and, beyond it, a glimpse of a white porticoed mansion.

That drop had been unearthed among some of the "properties" acquired when Randy had bought the River Queen, and Bob had all but wept with delight when he had seen it. Against its faded colors, Melissa, in a hoop-skirted, crinolined frock of pale green and cream-colored silk, so stiff it could all but stand alone, a scoop-shaped bonnet of white straw tied with green satin ribbons beneath her pretty chin, made a picture that caught the imagination of the audience immediately.

The first notes of her voice, caught up and amplified and warmed by the microphone, brought an appreciative silence, and when she had finished there was a great burst of applause that made her come back and sing again and again. She sang four numbers before they let her go. And Alice and Hugh were halfway through their first routine before the audience settled back to give them their polite attention.

Flushed and bright-eyed and on tiptoe with excitement and delight, Melissa stood in the wings when Randy came toward her, his hands extended for hers, his eyes alight.

"You were swell, darling," he told her eagerly, and that little endearment sank down into her heart and curled warmly there. He'd called her "darling." Maybe he had done it carelessly. Maybe he hadn't been conscious of it. But she had been; and she would treasure the memory. "There are some people here I want you to meet. Come along with me."

He tucked her hand through his arm and led her out into the auditorium and to a table where half a dozen people, men and women, were sitting. Speaking softly, so that the attention of other tables would not be drawn away from Alice and Hugh, in the midst of a very torrid rhumba on the stage, Randy introduced her.

A Crush

THEY looked at her curiously, these well-dressed men and women, with the self-assurance that seems an inevitable part of the possession of great wealth and social position. They were pleasant, friendly, even flattering. One of them was a young man of perhaps twenty-two or three, and he said, acknowledging the introduction, "Come on, Scarlett, and dance with me! I've always wondered how girls of the 'befo' de wah' period managed their hoopskirts in a dance—"

"Well, you're not going to find out just now," said Randy lightly, though there was a hint of steel in his voice. "Because the orchestra is currently busy with a number and this dance-act will be followed by another. It will be at least twenty minutes before the stage is cleared for the audience to dance."

"Then the first dance thereafter is mine, Miss Marlowe—don't forget!" said the young man, and watched as Randy drew Melissa away with him.

The night was very warm and they stepped out on deck away from the crowded, brilliantly lit auditorium. They faced the wide river, the woods of the shore behind them. The moon had just risen—a great round copper colored disk that seemed to hang so low Melissa had an absurd feeling that she might stand on tiptoe and touch it. It would be butter-soft, fragrant—She laughed at such an idea, and Randy, loving her laughter, looked down at her, smiling a little, and asked, "You're happy?"

"Of course. You've been so good to me—I mean everybody has been so nice—" She stumbled a little because she didn't want to let him guess that the greater part of her happiness came because she was with him.

"You should be happy, surely, because you are a success," said Randy gravely. "That man you met back there, Marston, is one of my backers. And he thinks you have terrific possibilities."

"He seems terribly young to be anybody's backer—"

Randy laughed drily. "I'm talking about Marston, senior—not Jimmy," he said swiftly. "Jimmy's—well, he's a pup. He's attracted to you and he will want to give you a terrific rush. Just keep your eyes open and both feet on the ground, that's all. And, if he proves troublesome, let me know and I'll handle him."

"I don't expect to have any trouble with him, because I don't expect I'll ever see him again after tonight — except just when he comes here to the show boat," said Melissa simply.

Randy chuckled drily.

"Oh, he'll want to take you around—show you a good time and all that—" he said carelessly.

"I won't have to go, will I?" demanded Melissa uneasily.

"Of course not," said Randy swiftly. "Never as long as you are on this show boat do you have to do anything you don't want to."

"I'd say that was taking in rather a lot of territory," said Dolores behind them, her voice cool. "Aren't you coming in to hear my number, Ace?"

"Sure," said Randy curtly, and drew Melissa's hand through his arm as he turned toward the door to the auditorium.

Dolores' dark eyes flashed, but she set her teeth hard and went swiftly away to the entrance to the stage. The curtains parted to show her there, slim, yet voluptuous-looking in her ivory satin frock that gleamed as though it had been melted and poured about her.

There was a lei of gardenias about her throat that hung almost to her waist, and there were no shoulder straps to the very low-cut bodice of her gown. In one hand she carried a huge chiffon handkerchief of a very brilliant, lipstick red. With her corn-colored hair and her very white skin she looked brilliant, exotic, very striking, but a little bizarre.

Her song was a torrid torch-song, one of the newer ones that the radio was rapidly making banal and tiresome. But she sang it well and there was considerable applause when she had finished. She sang an encore: the applause was not quite so heavy; yet she forced it, deftly, as an experienced trouper, so that she could sing a third song without embarrassment. But the audience was almost flagrantly tired of her by the time she had finished. And Melissa had done four numbers to tumultuous applause and the audience had wanted more!

Tears

LIFE aboard the show boat was a pleasant, lazy sort of existence. The long, golden Indian summer days were spent lounging, reading, mending costumes, washing out lingerie; or, as Alice did, spending long hours fishing.

"Not," Alice explained cheerfully, "that I ever catch anything. Personally I don't believe there's been a fish here since the Mississippi was a brook! But it's light work and it keeps me out in the fresh air and it gives me a lot of time to think."

And so when Hugh was not insisting on rehearsals, Alice sat at the rail armed with a bamboo fishing pole. It was amazing to Melissa how long Alice could sit still. She had a catlike power of relaxation; her long, slim, graceful dancer's body seemed to flow in motion, or simply to congeal in careless, inescapably graceful pose that she could hold for hours.

Quite accidentally one afternoon Melissa approached her on feet that made no sound on the deck because of their thin rubber soles, and discovered that Alice was weeping.

There was something almost terrifying in the discovery that the girl who lay relaxed in the steamer chair, her back to the boat, her face turned toward the yellow river, was crying silently, without a movement, the tears raining down her white face.

Germans describing the fine treatment they are receiving in internment camps in the United States are cited as evidence that the North Americans fear they cannot win the war and are eager to avoid German reprisals afterward.

the attempt to stop the enemy drives along the two roads which dictate strategy for both sides in Burma.

The major fight in central Burma, apparently, will be for the paved Prome road, which runs along the broad Irrawaddy river through the rich Yenangyuang oil fields to Mandalay.

The Japanese are moving troops up from the Rangoon area to this front by land and water and also are strengthening their line on the parallel Toungoo road, to the east

CASEY SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY

Canberra, Australia, March 20—(AP)—A long-distance controversy between Winston Churchill and John Curtin, head of Australia's Laborite government—with Australia's minister to Washington, Richard G Casey, in the middle—was being aired today.

A summary of crisp exchanges between the prime ministers was issued today in advance of a white paper promised for next Wednesday which will contain full documentation of the argument over the best use to be found for Casey.

Churchill wanted him to be minister of state in the Middle East for the British war cabinet, a representative of the United Kingdom there in all but strictly military matters Curtin wanted him to stay in Washington where, he said, Casey's contacts had made him most valuable to Australia and his replacement most difficult.
